

What Should My Child Be Doing?

Here are some things that your child should be doing every day:

Age – 3 Years

- understands and asks questions like
 - “Where is your coat?”
 - Who’s that?
 - What is soap for?
- says sentences with 5 or more words
- can tell about things they have done or tell a simple story
- people other than you can understand what they are saying most of the time
- enjoys other children and plays more with them
- pretend play follows a story (drives the car, crashes the car, fixes the car, drives the car again)
- know that written words mean something even though they cannot read (name of the cereal on the box)
